Dropped. So tired of this trope.
Instead of dropping just this manga you may want to stay away from any mangas with the ecchi, comedy, romance or harem tags.

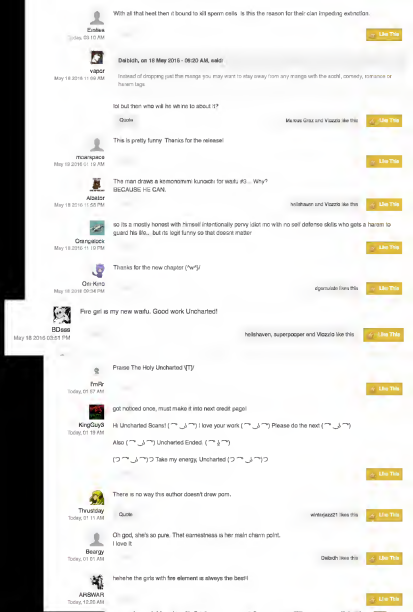
Tell me, how does it feel to end up on the screenshot credit page? Hilarious? Random? Exciting? Embarassing? A series isn't a series without any of their readers showing interest in the plot. Whether we get your "Best girl/Waifu" comments or the long debate of "Plot VS Justice".

Well, I can't argue about how many people personally thanked Uncharted Scanlations for reviving this dropped series. But I also would like to remind you guys that this is a hobby, and as much as I want to help pick up dropped series, I'm only one person. I was lucky to have fellow scanlators helping me out, but you guys are probably going to instantly click on the next page and demand more chapters... Sigh*, some of y'all are too damn impatient...



With all that heat then it bound to kill sperm cells. Is this the reason for their clan impeding extinction.
